Not only is "Texas Tears and Mexican Beer" #15 on the Texas Music Chart, but Pat's single is also #8 on the Texas Regional Radio Report. "Texas Tears and Mexican Beer" has radio stations across the Lonestar State pouring forth praise. "Who needs the Kleenex when you have the Mexican Beer...What a Song! Love the tune, makes you wanna head for the border. Pass me the salt and lime senior!" says Helen Linley of KMKS in Bay City, Texas.

The single, which has also been released nationally, is currently #56 on the Music Row Country Breakout Chart. Pat's first single "Badly Bent" stayed in the Top 50 of the Texas Music Chart for seven months, with a peak position of #28.

Pat Waters is a pure-country traditionalist with a deeply focused approach to honky-tonk music. Simply put, Pat is what country America is all about—honest values, simple words, and heartfelt emotions. Right Where I Belong is a dynamic spectrum of toe-tapping dance songs and memorable melodies you can't help but hum along with. "This album reminds me of a fun filled Texas Friday night," says Pat. With his new album Right Where I Belong out in stores, and his second single "Texas Tears and Mexican Beer" storming the Texas airwaves, Pat Waters is flooding the country music scene.
